SENATOR BORAH WANTS IMMEDIATE ACTION ON DISARMAMENT MATTER

RIGHT NOT PASS THE RESOLUTION BUT CAN'T STOP THE MOVEMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Republican leaders are at apparent odds over disarmament. Senator Borah of Idaho, author of the disarmament resolution, before the senate tonight, demanded immediate action. The demand was made as a reply to Elihu Root's letter to the house naval affairs committee urging congress to take no action on disarmament until president-elect Harding has taken office. "They can stop the passage of a resolution, but they can't stop the movement," said Borah in some finance, commenting on Root's letter. "Delay is one method peculiarly adapted to killing any program of disarmament."

"I will accept any program and will support any program whoever is the author of it, which seems to be better and swifter and wiser than the method followed. I simply want when and don't want delay. Disarmament ought not be delayed. During the past few days, representing billions of expenditures will be made and billions will be expended for armaments. But the time being framed and taxpayers will have to take care of them. Taxes are being imposed and collected. In the meantime the world is on the verge of bankruptcy. Millions are starving and dying for want of clothes and food. Shall we later and daily expend money for those fearful consequences? It may be possible and I presume it is probable they can stop the passage of this resolution but they can't stop the movement."

Borah declared he did not believe president-elect Harding desired delay or he was going to name a Secretary of State who is unfamiliar with the disarmament situation.

The preamble to the treaty of Versailles amounts to a pledge for disarmament, Borah said, but two years ago passed and the "most stupendous program for armament ever known has been initiated by at least one of the great allies and associated powers."

Chairman Butler of the house naval affairs committee state that hearings on disarmament will proceed, despite Root's statement, although he would not say whether the house would act on this session.

SENATE INVESTIGATES WEST VIRGINIA COAL WAR IN MINGO COUNTY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A senatorial investigation of the West Virginia coal war and of the Mingo county deaths is proposed by Senators Kenyon, Borah, and Hiram Johnson. They declare the "lid" should be ripped off conditions in the West Virginia mining districts and congress should take a hand to bring order and end the sufferings of women and children. A resolution calling for such an investigation will make its appearance in the senate next week, it is stated.

Its purpose is for senators to secure first hand information regarding conditions which it is alleged have forced men, women and children to live in canvas and wooden shacks in mid-winter. Some of the participants in clashes between mine operators and miners may be brought to Washington to testify. Members of the committee may visit Mingo county. Officials of mine workers are urging that the investigation be made.

LILY WHITES AND BLACK AND TANS IN GA. IN BATTLE

ATLANTA, Jan. 22.—Lily white and black and tan Republicans are in a heated controversy in Georgia over party control which carries with it patronage and leadership. Charges and counter charges, including forgery, have been exchanged. Complete denial of charges of disloyalty to party, forgery, misuse of campaign funds, failure to account for funds collected and the sale of federal patronage were made today by C. P. Gorrell, chairman of the White faction of the Republican central committee.

The charges were "sustained" against Gorrell and his resignation with that of M. H. Karcher, vice chairman, were demanded at a session of the state committee late yesterday at the negro Old Bellows hall. Gorrell stated today that the negro meeting was illegal and charged John Martin, a white man and Ben Davis, a negro, with being in connection with charges against him. The meeting yesterday was attended by 78 of 91 members of the state committee, either by proxy or in person.

The charges were read out at a time and the committee voted readily to sustain each charge after "the evidence" had been submitted.

TWO THOUSAND RUSS HAVE RETURNED HOME IN PAST TWO MONTHS

RIGA, Jan. 22.—Two thousand Russians who have lived in the United States five and ten years have returned to Russia within the past two months and ten thousand others are on their way, according to information from Moscow today. ## WILL INVESTIGATE BRITISH ACTIVITIES IN MERCHANT MARINE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A complete and thorough investigation into British activities in the American merchant marine has been ordered by the United States Shipping board. After consideration of charges made by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington, that the International Mercantile Marine has entered into an agreement with the British admiralty to guarantee no policy injurious to Great Britain, the Shipping board today unanimously passed a resolution ordering the investigation and naming F. A. S. Franklin, of the International Mercantile Marine, to appear before the board on Thursday next.

Although Franklin had declared that the agreement, which is characterized by the Shipping board as "alleged to be inimical to shipping interests of the United States" was not a secret, William Deeman, the first chairman of the Shipping board, tonight stated he never heard of the agreement. John Barton Payne, former chairman of the board, today also denied having known of the agreement, as stated by Franklin.

The investigation is expected to lead to further disclosures, if evidence which has been submitted to officials of the board is substantiated. It was learned tonight, it is understood several confidential reports have been submitted to Admiral Benson, chairman, which will be the basis for a close examination of some men ranking high up in the Merchant Marine world.

Yacht Victoria Expected to be Anchored Here Until Tuesday

(Special to the Daily News)
ST. AUGUSTINE, Jan. 22.—President-elect Warren G. Harding, aboard the yacht Victoria, left here this afternoon at 4 o'clock and will tie up at Summer Haven tonight, reaching Ormond Beach Sunday.

The president-elect is the guest of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, but a small party leaving on the yacht, the president-elect's large staff remaining at his headquarters in this city, at the Ponce de Leon, until his return to this city later, where he will remain until shortly before inauguration.

The yacht Victoria will be tied up at the Ormond Hotel wharf from Sunday night until Monday night, to give the president-elect all day Monday to devote to golf on the Hotel Ormond course, and to enjoy the delights of the country about the village, which already is known around the world as the winter residence of John D. Rockefeller.

IN DAYTONA: MONDAY NIGHT

The yacht Victoria, with the president-elect and party will leave Ormond late Monday afternoon, arriving in Daytona shortly afterwards, when the boat will be anchored so any of the party who care to, may go ashore, but Mr. Harding has made it emphatic that he will not participate in festivities.

Crowds here and at Jacksonville greeted Harding with cheers. He played golf here after lunching on board the yacht. He plans to come back here immediately after his fishing cruise down the coast.

There are twelve newspapermen, six secret service officers and several photographers with the party.

The management of the Hotel Ormond last night confirmed the above dispatch, stating that all arrangements for the reception of President-elect Harding at Ormond have been completed, and that he will leave there Monday evening for Daytona, where it is believed he will remain only until Tuesday morning, continuing the cruise at that time, toward Miami, the objective point of the present cruise.

It is understood that Senator Harding has expressed the opinion that he might stop longer in Daytona on the return of the yacht from the cruise south.

LUNCHEON PLANNED FOLLOW INAUGURAL MAY BE CANCELLED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—President-elect Harding will be a guest at a Washington hotel on the night of March 2nd, prior to his inauguration, it was learned today. Harding expressed a desire that the luncheon proposed to be held at the White House following the inauguration shall be cancelled, according to those closely connected with the president-elect. President Wilson had been expected to be the host at this luncheon. Mrs. Harding is expected to arrive in Washington late tonight.

It was learned from an authoritative source tonight. Among other things, Nollet will report twenty complete tanks found secreted near Berlin.

MILITARY COERCION MEANS DISASTER, IS BELIEF OF WILSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—President Wilson has suggested to the great powers of the world that they keep "hands off" Soviet Russia, leaving her to work out her own salvation. Not only does the president suggest that the great powers themselves undertake no military aggression against the Bolshevik government, but he also believes, they should enter into a solemn agreement among themselves not to permit others to do so.

This was announced tonight when the state department made public a communication from the president to Paul Hymans, president of the League of Nations, on the subject of Armenian mediation. Armenia has come under control of the Moscow government since the president accepted the task of mediating Armenian affairs at the request of the League. The president's proposal, coming almost on the eve of his retirement, is in effect a challenge to the nation of Europe and Asia to demonstrate the sincerity of their often expressed desire for a real world peace by concrete action. It is useless, the president pointed out to Hymans, for mediators to make peace in open since only to troops released there to hurry away to some other spot along Soviet Russia's far flung boundary and renew fighting.

"It is useless to all," said the note, "that small struggling border states will not attack great Russia unless encouraged by the promise of support from the stronger powers."

The president therefore, believes the time has come of attempt at pacification must be a public and solemn engagement among the great powers not to take advantage of Russia's stricken condition and not to violate the territorial integrity of Russia nor to undertake, themselves, any further invasions of Russia, nor tolerate such invasions by others.

"Such public agreement would in effect say to those now in power in Russia: 'You are not menaced from outside threat powers have voluntarily guaranteed you from attack. You can have peace if you want it.'"

The president pointed out the responsibility for any new war could be readily placed. If Russia agrees to this view, the note stated, the president will immediately send Henry Morgenthau, his personal representative, to undertake the task of negotiation. If they don't agree, the plain inference is that Morgenthau will stay at home.

The president took pains to point out that his sympathy with the Bolsheviks is no greater now than it has ever been. He still regards them as a "violent, tyrannical minority, by no means representing the real purposes and desires of the Russian people."

But it is also emphatically stated that Mr. Wilson has never believed the Russian problem would be solved by military action on the part of the outsiders.

"Help may come in time to time let come from outside and voluntarily resolved, but attempts at military coercion can lead and in disaster," the note declared.

OAKS FROM ACORNS GROW

Far cry it is from the little group of young men who met in a room in the London dry goods store of George Hitchcock in 1844 to the army of 868-892 members comprising the Y. M. C. A. in America alone, at this time. Yet that shows just how the Young Men's Christian Association has grown in the 77 years since its inception.

The real founder of the Y. M. C. A. was a man named George Williams. Williams was a clerk in Hitchcock's dry goods store. And there he roomed with 80 other clerks. He didn't like the habits of some, and invited a few to meet with him in his room to try to change conditions. Out of this meeting grew the association. Hitchcock, the owner of the store, became the first president and Williams served as treasurer for 41 years.

In America there are 2194 Young Men's Christian Associations, with 5173 paid officers and 85,106 directors and volunteer committees. Out of the total membership of about 869,000, there are nearly 200,000 boys quite an army in itself. Its property in the United States is worth $128,000,000.

Isn't it odd that so many men who rarely if ever took a drink now talk of nothing but their successful efforts to get one?

Some one should propose a benefit for the Washington hotel men who raised their rates for inauguration before the ceremonies were simplified.

MONTE CARLO IS PLANNED FOR CUBA

BANKRUPT ISLAND GRIPPED BY GAMBLING FRENZY; FORTUNES CHANGE

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
 HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 21.—America is soon to have a Monte Carlo all its own if plans for gambling palaces in bankrupt Cuba develop as given out.

This following the announcement that the Prince of Monaco is preparing to close the famous European resort.

Centering in Oriental Park, where the horses of two continents run every afternoon, the gambling mania is spreading to the provinces of Cuba. Fortunes change hands every day.

Several villages have been surveyed for extensive gambling resorts.

In Havana, the Casino de la Playa, which advertises "Games" in all daily newspapers, is a great, garish temple of roulette, where dinners are served at almost less than cost. The profit for "the house" comes at "the wheel."

Crowds Play Roulette
 "The Roulette Room" is crowded nightly.

No man takes a woman to the Casino without offering to "back" her at "the wheel." Whatever she wins is hers to keep. Whatever she loses is his to pay.

No wonder the women press close to the tables until dawn tints the high French windows.

With guards in evening dress moving constantly from group to group, the room is ever orderly. Seldom are words heard. Only the click and clatter of the marble ball as it spins around the colored bowl.

Until recently A. de Segura, formerly second baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, managed the Casino.

He resigned a few days ago, after the publication of a challenge for a duel between two Cubans. The affair was said to have been caused by the mention of a woman's name. Segura was reported to have been connected with the quarrel.

The moratorium has scarcely affected the crowds at the Casino, possibly because they are made up mostly of tourists.

Americans seem to prefer dice to roulette. The croupiers will "shoot craps" with any visitor at the Casino. If a lady distrusts the Casino's dice, she may take her own little pearl box and play with her own dice against the house.

Bank Unbreakable
 As yet nobody has been able to "break the bank" at the Casino.

"If you play long enough, you will be sorry," is the saying.

"Beginner's luck," sometimes bring a large return at first, but the percentage is in favor of the Casino, of course, and the winnings on the croupier's side of the table are always greater than his loss.

But the tourists infect the natives with the gambling fever.

So the world looks upon this weird contrast—an island apparently, "gone broke," yet gambling madly.

"TRUTH DETECTOR" FOR WIVES IS SAD THING FOR HUSBANDS

(International News Service.)
 DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 23.—Husbands of the near future listen to this.

When you come home and tell wifey you were unavoidably detained at the office, be careful, for she may have a little "truth detector" in her home.

The "truth detector" is a possibility said Professor Dayton C. Miller, D. S. C. of the Case School of Applied Science, speaking before a large gathering of members of the Detroit Engineering Society in the Board of Commerce.

By it wifey would be able to take pictures of your voice. Through study of the pictures she would know whether you were really at the office or were imbibing less than 2 1/2 percent at a cabaret, with perhaps a little chicken on the side.

Professor Dayton had many pictures of sound, which he made while studying shell shock and allied problems for the United States ordnance corps during the war.

When he was young Dr. Dayton started out to study the flute, silver gold and wood, to determine which was best and why. He is approaching the winter of life and has never had time to determine the problem of the flute, but he did find out why Caruso burst a blood vessel and why the report of a great rifle can kill a man.

Simple Matter
 To find out why Caruso burst a blood vessel was a simple matter. He took a picture of the sounds of a phonograph playing the sextet from Lucia. It showed Caruso burst a blood vessel for the same reason a howitzer report shell shocks a man.

In other words when a howitzer is fired, there is a resulting displacement of air by the projectile, the flash of powder and the report of the explosion. It is serious enough or sharp enough the air displacement discommodates the internal organs in the chest of a man with the first or positive report, and when this is followed by the next, or negative, report, there is a rush of blood to the head, with the foregone result.

The photograph of the sextet from Lucia shows that Caruso's voice has a sharper, more explosive and higher report than any other human voice and most musical instruments.

Therefore the explosion of Caruso's voice burst the blood vessel in his head.

County Superintendent C. R. M. Sheppard Gives Interesting Data About Volusia Schools

Director James Heaton started off the Saturday morning session of the Educational conference with a most enjoyable song service. In spite of the strenuous life he has had to lead while here working night and day besides carrying an enormous responsibility, appeared as fresh as the proverbial rose when he appeared to preside.

State Superintendent W. N. Sheets of Florida was the first speaker and he had only a few minutes as he had received a message calling him home on official business. Dr. Sheets said: I had intended to tell you about some of the things we have accomplished and also something about what we hope in the future, but I will not have time to do either. I do not believe the people of any state in the Union are more willing to spend money for education. We were ahead of all southern states in compelling a tax for school purposes by constitutional enactment. Some years ago we had only two brick school houses, now we have over four hundred. But I say to you school houses do not constitute schools neither do teachers or equipment always. No school is a school that does not make real men and women. No matter how many teachers or how fine the buildings, because a teacher is a normal graduate or college bred does not always indicate that they are or will be good teachers. I know they often turn out mighty shoddy material. What we want are men and women with the brains, the heart, the conscience, and the energy to enter the work of teaching in earnest ready and willing to give up their lives to this work. It is not necessary for them to be college bred always. If they have the equipment and are willing to give real earnest service it does not matter so much where or how they prepared themselves. I am not one who believes in begging aid from the federal government for our schools. It is too much like taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another. I am in favor of paying teachers a reasonable price for their services but want real honest service. Many teachers have never earned what they received, no matter how little it might be. There is too much sham in the school room. There is too much pretense in the school room. I say, do your work well. It is not so important to cover a good deal of ground as it is to do what you attempt to do well. I have every confidence to believe that the state of Florida will keep pace with the times and in the race for educational development she will keep alongside with her sister states.

Superintendent Sheets closed with a glowing and richly deserved tribute to County Superintendent C. R. M. Sheppard, for his wonderful accomplishments in Volusia county.

Dr. J. L. McBrien here called upon County Superintendent C. R. M. Sheppard of Volusia county, to give the delegates some idea of the progress of the public school system in this county since he has been the head of the work. Mr. Sheppard began by thanking the state superintendent for his generous words of praise. In substance he spoke as follows:

While I desire to develop in the extemporaneous talk I am to make are the two significant elements by which a school system may be judged. These are the material insignias and the spiritual insignias. By the material we refer to those objects and elements which necessarily enter into and become a vital part of a school system, namely, the general equipment which has developed from a general public interest in education.

By the second, the spiritual, I refer to the actual growth in the general interest and enthusiasm of the people and particularly the students and others whose lives are particularly touched by the methods of public education. Please understand that in my reference to the development of education in this county, I do so without any thought of special credit for myself during the many years I have devoted to this work. For, in fact, personally I attribute the success, whatever it may be, to Volusia county's population in general and to the army of earnest teachers who have added in building this system to its present state of efficiency.

In my efforts to show you the development of the material side of our school system, I shall be forced to give you some statistics which to you no doubt will be dry, but without which it would be impossible for me to show our material growth during recent years.

In 1913 the assessed valuation of taxable property was seven million dollars, while by 1920 these valuations had grown to fourteen millions. In 1913 the total amount available for the maintenance of the public schools of Volusia county was $89,000, while in 1920 our expenditures for this purpose was about $190,000. The figures do not include the cost of the many new buildings of which I will speak later. In 1913 the county maintained 58 public schools, while by 1920 this number had decreased to 45 as a result of consolidation, while the number of schools maintained have decreased by 13 the number of teachers employed has increased from 128 in 1913 to 209 in 1920.

The total amount paid for teachers' salaries in 1913 was $49,600 while the amount paid for this purpose in 1920 exceeded $120,000. During the period of development of which I speak 30 new buildings have been erected at a cost of nearly one million dollars. Of this number 15 are of brick or concrete construction made possible through bond issues on the various special tax school districts. While the remaining 15 were erected from our general school revenues upon the entire taxable property of the county.

Every school building of the county regularly established, is equipped with the best modern furniture and equipment on the markets today, including the patent desks, teachers' chairs and desks, globes, charts, maps and various other necessary helps for teachers. Many of them have pianos, victrolas and play ground equipment. Time will not permit me to go further into detail in this particular phase. I shall therefore have to turn to the other half of the basic thought in my subject, viz. Spiritual insignia of progress.

By the spiritual, development I refer to the actual good being derived by the people from the large investment on the material side.

In 1913 the enrollment of pupils in our public schools was 3645, while in 1920 the enrollment exceeded 5,000. That our school system is approved by and acceptable in the main to other sections of this country is evidenced by the fact that in 1920, 38 states and five foreign nations were represented by pupils in the schools of our county. The number of pupils from these states and nations exceeded 1,000 or an equivalent of 20 per cent of the native enrollment. To say the least the problem of fitting our school system to the needs and demands of 38 states is great.

In 1913 the county agent for transportation of pupils from abolished schools to consolidated district schools spent $1000, while in 1920 the expenditure for this item exceeded $16,000 indicating to one that the rural population is gradually growing in its appreciation of increased and efficient methods of education.

In 1913 there were two so-called accredited High schools in the county with an enrollment of 197 high school pupils while in 1920 five fully accredited senior High schools were maintained with a total enrollment of 471 pupils.

All departments in our schools have been so organized and regulated as to comply with the state's adopted standards for the various departments. All high schools are recognized among the state standard High school and four or five hold honorable places on the list of southern accredited high schools.

I have said nothing about the teachers employed in this work during this seven years, during which time these developments have taken place, but here allow me to pay in this feeble way, a glowing tribute to those who have manifested a spirit of sacrificial service. It is a recognized fact that Florida is in crying need for more teachers, better trained for the service and who have entered the service to make it a profession, rather than a stepping stone to something higher. Yet we recognize and honor those among us who are in this class and are holding together and advancing the cause of humanity through our public schools. There is one thing certain before the profession of teaching may be stabilized, the emoluments must also be stabilized and put upon an equal basis with the other honorable professions of the land. Until this is done we may expect the rank and file of the army of teachers to be broken here and there by the poorly prepared and inefficient.

We have during these years striven to recognize the profession in this way by a gradual increase of individual salaries as I explained in the beginning of my talk. Again I say to you that all the expenditures for the material side of an educational institution will come to naught unless that institution is provided with teachers for upon the teachers depends the successful functioning of the material side of the institution. People should remember that it costs now much more to build and equip and maintain schools and that it costs the teachers much more to live than it did a few years ago. They must expect the school expenses are necessarily increased as everything else has.

Miss Margaret M. Streeter, Miss Florence H. Stubbs and Supt. A. B. Johnson of Orange county also spoke. At the beginning of the Saturday afternoon session Dr. McBrien presented State Rural School Inspector R. D. Turner of Inverness as the presiding officer, who made a ten minute introductory address. He highly complimented Superintendent Sheppard for his work of consolidation he planned and executed. "I love Mr. Shep," he said, "and I want to say he has done more than any other man in the state. I know something about the fight he has been obliged to make to do what he has for the schools of this county and today his accomplishments are an inspiration for the rest of the state."

Supt. T. W. Lawton of Seminole county when presented said that what is needed most by the schools are teachers with initiative ability. Those who know what should be done and how to do it without being told and who will go ahead and do it. Many teachers do not have the training and ability to do it. To my mind it is a financial question. In order to secure such teachers we must have more money.

R. S. Blanton, the new county superintendent of Pinellas county said his story was short as he had been in office but four weeks. He could say nothing of work accomplished but he had been awfully embarrassed by the presentation of unpaid bills authorized by his predecessor. He said he believed tourists should pay tuition.

Charles M. Fisher, superintendent of Dade county, upon being presented admonished those present by declaring that in his county there is not one frame school building for white children and only one for the black and they are preparing to get rid of that he gave interesting description of school conditions in his county. He said their schools had progressed and are still progressing. Better teachers and better pay for them is his battle cry. He says he now has a deficit in the county's school account of more than $300,000. This is bothering him some.

County Supt. Sheppard of Volusia county was called to speak further regarding school consolidation with regard to the territory north of the county seat of which he was asked to speak. We started to consolidate about eight years ago. This territory was twenty-five miles long and fourteen to fifteen miles wide. Eight years ago there was a little rural school here and there scattered all about. When we started our campaign for a consolidated school, I had a good deal of help and encouragement from state educators. After some effort the legislature authorized a bond issue for rural school improvement covering the entire county. As a result we have a well-equipped modern high school, electric lighted and with a small library. Ford truck are used for the transportation of children. It will do any person good to visit that school and see how successful it has been and how it is appreciated by the students who attend it. Five teachers are employed. The school has club and literary societies and is fast becoming a social center. Mr. Sheppard urged that an eighth grade education is not sufficient for a child, they need a high school course.

Prof. T. J. McBeth of the Central High school of Barberville gave some interesting statistics as to the growth and work of his school. He saw the school required no discipline as the students were there for business. Out of a total enrollment of 773 the average attendance has been 68.

Dr. Lola Hayes of Moline, Ill., was asked to speak on the Conservation of Health. She pleaded for good wholesome fun for both pupils and teachers, and said that crooked backs, bad teeth and all other physical defects should be remedied and prevented if possible. Hot lunches or at least a hot drink, milk preferred were strongly recommended by the speaker.

It was about 5 o'clock Saturday evening when the conference finally adjourned.

Low Admission of 10 Cents Charged Scholars for Play

In order that all Triple City school children might have the splendid opportunity to enjoy the patriotic pageant, being given at the Auditorium Monday evening, Dr. J. L. McBrien, of Washington, the author of the play, and director of the production, has suggested that all school children be admitted to the pageant at the low price of 10 cents, which suggestion is being followed by the Auditorium management.

Dr. McBrien also suggests that school teachers in all the grades make special announcements of this feature of the Monday evening production in the schools Monday morning, and so far as possible make arrangements to bring the pupils to see the great pageant, which, it is thought, will serve a great good in impressing upon the minds of the youths of the county the great truths of the early history of America, in line with their study of American history.

Just before the audience dispersed Dr. Henry E. Jackson, the forum speaker at the auditorium was introduced and he spoke a few words of encouragement to those taking part in the conference.

GERMANY'S FLEET GROWING DESPITE HEAVY HANDICAP

(United Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—(By Mail.)—German shipbuilders are laying their plans for the future on the development of oil-burning rather than coal-burning ships. At present there is some development of motor-ships, using Diesel motors like those which drove the U-boats. Builders, however, entertain divergent views as to the practicability of the motor ship. The Bremen group holding more enthusiastically a brief for this type than do the Hamburg builders.

Fourteen ship lines operating in Germany have recently increased their capital from 311,500,000 marks to 447,000,000 marks, in part to meet higher costs and in part to prevent foreign lines from getting a grasp on the business. German lines are now operating to all parts of the world, and the prospects for the future are regarded as rather good, despite the fact that the process of rebuilding a merchant marine is necessarily slow.

Recent alliance between steel concerns and shipbuilders makes it possible for a broader development than would otherwise have been the case. And the shipbuilders are happy at the fact that their workers are showing a healthy willingness to "stick to the job." Purchases of ships from outside are necessarily limited by high exchange. There is considerable chafing, but the tendency is as before and during the war, to develop fixed lines on fixed rate trade routes.

It is estimated that Germany now has 419,000 tons of her own shipping as against 5,240,000 before the war, with about 185,000 tons of new shipping in sight. The recent alliances with American lines are hailed here as great assets, offering the chance eventually for the German merchant marine to have a new "place in the sun."

ARCEL POST RUSH
 NEVER "BONE DRY"

Winning Essay, Thrift Week, Campaign, On the Subject "Value of Bank Account"

BY BARBARA M. REED.
Seabreeze High School, '21, Winner
First prize of $10 Donated by East Coast State Bank.

What is money? Who has money? Ah, who has money, and how do they get it, is just the secret. The average man in this country, who has money, must realize the value of a bank account and its necessity, or he wouldn't have one.

Almost all men in this country are working men, occupied in one way or another; however, the majority of the men are wage earners, earning their living by the sweat of their brows. These men and their children should be taught to realize the value of money. Not only the wage earners, but every man's child should be taught to save his pennies, nickels and dimes, out of which in time dollars will grow.

The men of this age are not cautious with their money, especially young men; when they receive more money than they have been accustomed, they pay exorbitant prices for foolish things. For example, take the wages earned; during the war, money was cheap and they could get twice or three times the wages they used to get before, but the majority did not have a vision of tomorrow. They did not ask themselves, will I be working tomorrow? Will the high wages continue after the war? What will the conditions be after the war?

No, the majority did not have visions of tomorrow. They were money crazy. They spent their wages as fast as they earned them, on luxuries, of which they could never have dreamed before the war.

If every man during the war, lived up to what Benjamin Franklin says, "Make no expense but to do good to others or yourself," in other words waste not your money foolishly, conditions might be a little better today, when the factories are closing and thousands of men are out of work, and out of money.

Then, if a man is ambitious to have a bank account, he is ambitious to have other valuables. A man with a bank account is usually a property owner. He is a better citizen; he pays taxes for his property and naturally cares more for the welfare of his community than a man without a bank account.

Of course some men have better chances for good positions, but every man of intelligence should think ahead and visualize the time when emergency may arise. There is always some way of economizing, no matter how little a man starts with.

The great financiers of today were not all born with a gold spoon in their mouths. Take for instance, John D. Rockefeller. He was a poor boy with very little education. He went to work at fourteen, but during his youth he was thrifty and saved his small wages, which was nothing compared to the wages young men receive today. While he was waiting for the opportunity, when he could invest his small savings safely, the little bank account was drawing interest and the original sum grew larger.

Then there is Morgan, the great steel magnate. He was another poor boy, but he was also ambitious to have something and not be dependent on some one for support.

It is a pity that in this vast, rich country of ours, there are sixty men out of every one hundred dependent on some one for support at the age of sixty. There are only ten out of one hundred that are well to do, and only five out of one hundred that are wealthy.

Wealth does not grow over night, as Weyland says: "Wealth is not acquired, as many persons suppose, by fortunate speculation and splendid enterprises, but the daily practice of industry, frugality and economy. He who relies upon these means will rarely be found destitute, and he who relies upon any other will generally become bankrupt."

Many men will say: If you have a bank account, you have a friend. When you are out of work, when it is raining, when you are sick or when you grow old and dependent, you will find your bank account is the safest and best friend you have ever made.

SHORTAGE CAUSED QUARTERMASTER TO DESTROY STORES

DETROIT, Jan. 22.—Franklin Lamb, former quartermaster at Fort Wayne, hired a man to set four fires in army buildings at Fort Wayne, federal officers charged today. A shortage of $57,000 in his accounts with the government, they alleged, caused him to destroy army stores which had been in his charge, so they could not be checked. Lamb was arrested charged with arson on government property.

GIRL KILLED BY MOONSHINERS

GIVES HER LIFE TO SAVE TWO OTHER WOMEN

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 22.—Bessie Allen, a 17-year-old orphan of the mountains of Owsley county, gave her life to protect two other women.

And now one man is sentenced to life in prison for murdering her, four others face trial, and another has disappeared.

The six men went to the mountain cabin where Bessie Allen lived with two other women.

They accused her of giving information concerning moonshiners to revenue officers and commanded her to leave the cabin with them.

When she refused they said that they would kill all within the cabin and burn it.

"I'll not let you kill them. I'll go," the girl declared.

Riddled With Bullets.

Grover Grabhard, who was sentenced for life, promised to protect the girl as she went with the sextet.

A few hours later the men carried the girl back to the cabin. She was riddled with bullets, and dying.

"Why did they kill me?" she moaned over and over before she died. "I have never harmed any one."

The men arrested with Grover Grabhard were Charles Grabhard, his brother Harlan, Leonard Baker and Hubert Clark.

They were hurried from Booneville in Owsley county to the Perry county jail when threats of a lynching were made.

Robert Sarlin disappeared. The other five accuse him of the murder.

MAKES A FORTUNATE FIND FOR RACES

Daytona, Fla., Jan. 22.—To the Hotel Men and Owners of the Triple Cities, we are several of us who are to make this a successful year for all the business men in the city. In so doing, we must be the tourists, therefore the racing Association has organized a race on the beach every day. Many of these men give time and money for this race, but are not even in business in the city. If we are to run successfully as they have to the present time, we must get aid from the hotel men and owners of the Triple Cities in purchasing trophies to give to the winners. As a committee, I would appreciate it if some live hotel man or owner would offer a loving cup for today's race.

Yours truly,

FOLLOW WEIGHT INCREASE IN FRENCH MAIL

Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The par between France and the United States is expected to double as the result of the order by the maximum of packages, 11 to 22 pounds.

The order results from several negotiations between Post and General Durlleson and postal officials of France.

The agreement provides for an increase in weight to start July 1. The weight limit becomes effective.

The order not only affects continental France and the United States, but all the island possessions and colonies of the two countries.

NEVER "BONE DRY"

IT'S KRAMER'S IDEA ABOUT NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—One and a half per cent wet—that's how John F. Kramer, prohibition commissioner, wants the United States, New York and New Jersey are still "dry," says Kramer. "But Kentucky is practically within the wet zone."

Everything has been written and sent to account prohibition, but as come to stay, I believe that light wines and beers will not be equalled.

However, it's likely that the country will prove to be entirely dry—any not as long as they disapprove prohibition in New York and New Jersey they do not.

A Spirit of Hospitality Pervades This Land of Sunshine and Opportunity.

Strongly tinted with romance are many chapters of the World's history, but nowhere are to be equalled in intensity the episodes leading up to and following the discovery of Florida. Four hundred years is a long time when measured in human progress, yet azure-skyed and rainbow-tinted Florida, so old in years, is still young and fresh with opportunity.

The search for the fabled Fountain of Youth is now only a memory, but on the other hand, have been found those priceless gems which spell long life and happiness. The songs of beautiful birds, the perfume of orange blossoms and lovely flowers, skies of ethereal blue and gorgeous tints and hues, nights of velvety softness with brilliant moon and myriad of stars, these, and more, are here to possess and to enjoy.

With inestimable resources and scenery as varied as it is beautiful, Florida enthralled and fascinates as does no other place in the world. Though just in her infancy, commercially, this State has taken her place in the front ranks as a wealth producer, with millions of dollars yielded annually by her eggs and poultry, dairy products, cotton, seafood, turpentine, rosin, phosphate and thousands of carloads of fruits and vegetables. Blind indeed would be the earnest man who could find no suitable employment for his skilled hands, trained mind, or idle capital.

Of the thousands who pour into Florida each winter, the great majority first come as tourists seeking comfort, rest and health. The people of the TRIPLE CITIES welcome them and invite them to call this "Home" by establishing here a permanent residence either for the winter seasons or the year round. In this edition of the DAILY NEWS appear some of the opportunities now available.

JAPS ARE BLAMED BY RED CROSS FOR RECENT MASSACRE

(United Press.)
 SHANGHAI, Jan. 22 — Atrocities of which Koreans living on Chinese soil were the victims and which were brought about between October 9 and November 5, 1920, by Japanese, who have arbitrarily invaded the territory of upper Manchuria, are described in a statement by the Korean Red Cross. Slain and injured persons total 2,933 in six counties, the report asserted, while 1,982 buildings were destroyed in the same area. Twenty-five churches were burned and nine school buildings wrecked.

Not only lives and property were destroyed by the invading Japanese but food supplies were confiscated, the indictment stated. Among other foodstuffs said to have been either removed or destroyed were 55,256 pounds of grain. A piglet is 135 pounds. Major General Sato, representing the Japanese war office has attempted to justify conditions in Manchuria by a statement in which he blames the missionaries. He said, according to the Red Cross report: "The missionaries who are now accusing the Japanese troops of cruelty are themselves the cause of the tragedy. I regret that the Koreans are not alive to the fact that their real grievance is against the mischief-making missionaries.

"It is a coincidence that many of the plotters who have been executed were Christians, but the plotters in many cases ally themselves with the missionaries for the sake of security thus afforded."

New Cafeteria in Arcade Building Opens for Season

The Tourist Cafeteria in the Arcade building opened yesterday noon with crowds of pleased patrons who gave the proprietors, T. C. McCutcheon and Fred Johnson, a royal welcome to Daytona. The cafeteria is a most inviting and comfortable eating place and is equipped with the latest, sanitary fixtures throughout.

The kitchen is a model cook room with every modern contrivance making possible the quick serving of the best food at reasonable prices. The meal hours daily and Sunday will be: breakfast 7:00 to 10, dinner 11:30 to 2, supper 5:30 to 8.

The famous New York chef will offer a most tempting menu day by day and the hundreds who have already patronized the Tourist Cafeteria are enthusiastic in their praise of quality, quantity and price.

"You can't have everything," said California to Ohio on the gridiron.

Many of the foremost men in America after trying other places have become permanent residents of Daytona and vicinity, thus proving by their works that considered from all angles the Daytona section appeals to them as does no other place. For instance, the richest man in the world after trying Southern California for several years and then Georgia, and then spending two or three winters here, has made this his permanent winter home, and has built a beautiful residence on the Halifax.

Many others, leaders in American life, have done the same thing. Probably no other community in America can show such a list of prominent winter home owning residents.

WHY ALLANDALE?

WHY ANYWHERE?

Buying real estate whether for speculation or investment—even selecting a location for a winter home—are matters that we give, unconsciously or not, the same consideration as we do the selection of furniture, clothing or jewelry, or any article we expect SERVICE from—We look for an article of known merit—something we know to be STANDARD.

WE WANT TO KNOW who is back of a real estate venture what to expect from the promoters in the way of fair dealing; what their plans are for future development; what the prospective value of the property may be, and we compare with other locations; but it is the ## Ford Special Breaks World Record for Amateur Racing in Local Meet Saturday P.M.

In the free-for-all five-mile race on Daytona Beach Saturday afternoon, the Ford Special, owned by the San Juan garage, and driven by Cassy Wingate, broke the world amateur record for the five-mile distance, making the distance in 3 minutes, 45 1-5 seconds, in one heat, and in 4 minutes, 46 4-5 seconds in the other heat. The record which the Ford Special made will no doubt stand for some time to come.

The little flying bus was forced to go the limit, as it was pitted against a class of six other cars, all racers, including a Packard, Hudson, Chevrolet, Marmon, Hupmobile and Overland. The little old Ford took both heats, in the first the Packard coming second and the Marmon third, while the Marmon took second in the second heat and the Packard third. Great praise is due Wingate in the manner in which he handled his speedy car.

The hanging up of a new world record was but a feature of the best amateur races ever held on Daytona Beach. An even greater number of spectators were present to take in the fun Saturday, than were there a week ago.

Before the races the prizes were awarded as won at last week's meet, the donors being local merchants.

At the Saturday races the first event was a two-mile open event, the entries being:

Buick—James Kenny.
Overland Special—Johnson.
Hudson—H. E. Gardner.
Ford Special—Cassy Wingate.
Packard—R. S. Everett.
Marmon—Starber.
Chevrolet—Daytona Beach garage.
Hupmobile—Townsend.

The Packard took the first heat, with Everett at the wheel, his time being one minute, 48 4-5 seconds. The Hudson was second and the Ford Special third.

The second heat was easily the Ford's with Wingate steering the little racer down the home stretch, his time being one minute 46 1-5 seconds, with the Marmon second and the Packard third.

In the final heat the Ford Special again took honors, with the Packard second and the Marmon third.

The second event, a half-mile bicycle race, was awarded to William Chesher first, Marion Graham taking second place.

In the one-mile bicycle race, Fred Forth, Espelahl took first place and Williams second.

In the fourth event, a slow race, the Packard, with Everett driving, came in first, a Chevrolet with Hutton at the wheel taking second prize.

The next event for the five-mile free-for-all, in which the Ford Special broke the world amateur racing time, winning both heats.

In the ladies' two-mile race, Mrs. H. E. Gardner in a Hudson was first, with Mrs. Everett second in a Packard.

At the conclusion of the races it was announced that a meeting of the racing committee of the Daytona Beach Motor Racing association will be held at the New Gables hotel this afternoon at 2 p. m., when all members of the committee are asked to attend.

The second successful meet of racing fans Saturday doubly assures the success of the weekly meets, as a great attraction for tourists and residents alike. The prizes will be awarded later in the week.

AMERICAN GOLFERS WILL TAKE THEIR BEST TO ENGLAND

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Having succeeded in winning a British tennis championship, America will make a most serious effort next summer to annex the English golf titles.

Funds have been in the process of solicitation since last fall to send a big team of the best American golfers after the British championship and success of the financial drive seems sure.

Looking toward the amateur title of the holes, the United States Golf association has announced plans of similar proportion.

"Chick" Evans, present American champion; S. Davidson Herron, last year's champion; Francis Ouimet, former title holder; Bobby Jones, Nelson Whitely, "Buck" Wittemore, Reginald Lewis and Max Marston have agreed to make the trip across the Atlantic. Robert A. Gardner, who made such a splendid showing in last year's championship, also may join the invaders.

Miss Alexa Sterling, Mrs. William A. Gavin and other noted women players are also planning to make the trip over to meet the best of the British women.

England is somewhat aroused over the invasion and some of the leading authorities through the press are trying to lead the more pessimistic followers away from the belief that the American contingent will be impossible to beat.

British players who toured America last summer took back with them generous tales of the improvement in the American game and they sounded a warning to their countrymen to wake up and devote their attention to the development of youngsters, else America would step in and take away from them their prized dominion of the links.

"WHY I QUIT AS COLLEGE HEAD FOR MOVIES"

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

PASADENA, Jan. 22.—James Augustin Brown Scherer, Ph. D. LL. D., is writing for the movies.

He resigned as president of the California Institute of Technology to conjure scenarios for Lasky.

"I believe my new field as a teacher is of equal importance with the old," says Dr. Scherer.

"A book that sells 10,000 copies is doing well. But put your message in successful film form and 40,000,000 people receive it."

"The photoplay challenges the writer's attention because it is so essentially democratic. It speaks a universal language."

So, take that, you gentlemen of the pen who espouse Potterism and take the "holier-than-thou" attitude toward the screen.

Lasky Elated

James Lasky is particularly elated by the accession of Doctor Scherer, which follows his open letter to London newspapers, in which he said:

"The motion picture is challenging the position long held by the printed word as the chief medium for the dissemination of thought."

He named a list of authors and asked whether they could afford to restrict their output to "the comparatively select circle of booklovers."

Reborts flew thick and fast.

Max Pemberton, British author and playwright, arose to remark that one "cannot read a photograph in bed."

"It is not grinning through a horse collar," he continued. "Audiences of culture and first-rate intelligence demand talk and color in drama."

Arnold Bennett, who writes books and plays, said that he couldn't believe "that in an aged body short time the influence of the film will outstrip that of books and plays."

The Dollar Argument
Then George Bernard Shaw took pen in hand.

"If the film companies would offer quarters as much to any novelist for a scenario," said Shaw, "as they eagerly pay for an American producer to spoil it and spend 50,000 pounds in the process, it would not be necessary to write letters to the press asking novelists to come forward; rather would it be advisable to engage extra police to stem the tide."

Dr. Scherer is 50. He married in Japan, where he founded the Lutheran mission. He also occupied a pulpit for six years in Charleston, S. C.

Dresses Made from Old Silk Stockings

Cora Moore, New York's Fashion Authority

A dress made from the tops of old stockings? Who would have believed it? Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, recently one of the wealthiest men in this country, had been actually constructing the dress of old black silk stockings. Several years ago Mrs. Walsh had the entire ballroom floor of her Washington home into a factory. Dozens of sewing machines hummed daily, reconstructing out of old clothes comfortable and decent garments for Europe's naked. Mrs. Walsh acts as personal superintendent of this charitable industry. Thousands and thousands of garments of every description have been sent overseas, and the work is still going on. It was started as a war measure, but is now being continued in memory of Mrs. Walsh's grandson, little Vincent Walsh MacLean, the "millionaire baby," killed by an automobile two years ago. The silk stocking frocks Mrs. Walsh designed as "best dresses" for destitute French girls. Many of these are being made—the ruined villages of France their destination. Miss Alice Nielsen, the prima donna, is Mrs. Walsh's "first aid," New York representative and shipping manager.

BRITAIN DENIES SHE IS ENTERING RACE FOR AIR SUPREMACY

(United Press.) LONDON, Jan. 22.—Great strides are being made in the science of aeronautics in Great Britain, it was learned at the Air Ministry today, but officials denied that the British contemplate seizing control of the air, as stated by General Mitchell of the American Aviation service. "Britain has not the slightest inclination or intention of entering a race for aerial supremacy," an officer of the ministry declared.

THOUGH SHACKLED, PRISONER LEAPS FROM PULLMAN CAR

(International News Service.) JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 22.—Joe Furrey alias J. P. Stetson and Ed Leonard wanted at Fort Worth, Texas, answering to a swindling charge involving $45,000, leaped handcuffed thru the window of a Pullman at Grand Crossing. Furrey was recaptured by Conductor Peck. He was not seriously hurt and was placed in jail again for safe-keeping.

"TEA SUITS" NEW IN WAY OF CLOTHES

By Cora Moore, New York's Fashion Authority

What the fashion makers call "tea suits" are having a great vogue, and, rightly, for most of them are decidedly distinctive looking besides being entirely practical. They consist, as in this smart model by Gladding, of a one-piece frock and coat of the same material. It is a brown drab, fashioned into a straight-line frock, undecorated from neck to hem, save for a tiny ruffled pocket over each hip—and then a box-coat. The coat, expensively lined, has a square collar of opossum, peltry set in at each corner, a large square collar and bell-shaped cuffs, also of opossum. One can easily picture this costume in one of the new blues—if blue is preferred to brown—Olympic, perhaps, or paragon.

JAPAN HOARDS GOLD

YELLOW COIN OBTAINED DEST LIQUIDATION

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.) NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Japan in a bold effort to avoid and obtaining all it can by liquidating its debts, according to Alfred Fenton. Fenton is general manager of the Eastern Commerce Co., and has just returned to the United States after several years in the Orient. Despite a general depression in business and the closing of factories, Fenton points out the postal savings of the people continue to increase. Figures of the Federal Reserve Board show that Japan has received $129,419,000 of the gold leaving this country since the embargo was lifted, June 1, 1915. That is the lion's share of the gold.

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—A bill is pending in the legislature exempting Massachusetts women from tolling their ages at election. They would just say they are over 21 and let it go at that.

"UNCLE GEORGE'S" SUNDAY MORNING SERMON

As it appears to Uncle George this Sunday morning.

There was never a better object lesson than that the three cities of Daytona, Daytona Beach and Seabreeze ought to be one city than the lesson given last Friday evening.

We can fight, pull and haul 'till the hot place freezes over, but divided as we are we never can become a harmonious "big one" city.

The advantages to be derived by uniting are beyond comprehension. Here is a case in which "in union there is strength." For instance, had we been one great city at the time of this meeting, a motion to raise $5000 could have been made and carried without a dissenting vote.

How would you raise it? By adding 12 a mill or a mill, not a saw mill, nor a sugar mill, there will come naturally in due time, but a twentieth of one-cent of a cent to our tax and then it would be equally divided and all would get the benefit in proportion to the value of their property or of the position they hold.

It is the only just, reasonable, and equitable way of doing these things. Henry Haynes as president of the Hotel Men's Association, volunteers to feed 500 or 600 people two meals each month, if only 100 meals are served $1.50 and this to be divided between the hotels shows the right spirit.

The visit of the 500 editors, representing a membership of 4000 will be a greater advertisement for our state than all other excursions combined have been. Publicity of the right sort for good, is beyond price comprehension.

Friends, I have been in this game for many years and if you don't believe it write to the Chicago Association of Commerce. It was there I learned much of the game.

Daytona has a good association of Commerce and the association has an unusually good secretary. "Daytona is a good city," I hear some one say, "so is Seabreeze and so is Daytona Beach." Very true, but the three united will beat the three separate at any stage of the game.

You have no factories and no extra large wholesale houses. We have tourists, you bet we have, and we have a greater proportion of high class, dandy, honest to God tourists than any other city in Florida, and some day we'll see one of a big city extending from Ormond on the north to New Smyrna on the south, and a good 40-foot concrete road the entire distance. We now have a God given road, the best in the world 200 to 300 feet wide on the beach that does not cost us a cent to keep up, neither will the concrete. How would you like to be able to say, "We live in a city that not only has two highways, but we also have 100 miles of water front, no other city on earth has such an advantage as this."

All we need to do these things is men, men with capital letters, MEN, not selfish beings, nor cravens, men, but big hearted men with big high ideals. Show them what we have. Had Carl Fisher been compelled to remain here a few days, it would have been a great thing for Daytona, as he would have seen the benefits of this location and made a great city out of it. There wouldn't have been three little cities, but one big one.

Every man I talked with last night and I talked with men from all three cities, said we ought to be one city. Now let us be one, not in name only, but in reality. Unreality has no power, place or thing in this scheme, so with brotherly love let's shake hands across the Halifax.

Very truly,
"UNCLE GEORGE" VAN PELT

GOVERNOR COOLIDGE LIKE EARLY PILGRIMS

(International News Service.) BOSTON, Jan. 22.—Governor Coolidge was likened to Governor Bradford of Plymouth Colony by the Rev. Edward A. Horton.

Tracing the development of the Pilgrim spirit from its beginning to the present day, Dr. Horton said: "Among the modern prototypes of the early days none is more striking than the similarity between two governors of Massachusetts—Bradford and Coolidge."

YELLOW FEVER AND BUBONIC PLAGUE IN VERA CRUZ SPREADS

(International News Service.) VERA CRUZ, Jan. 22.—The yellow fever epidemic continues and bubonic plague is now appearing with seven new cases of yellow fever, and two deaths in the last 24 hours. Just outside of Vera Cruz three new cases of bubonic plague have been discovered. Many are leaving the district.

FOR MANY DIFFERENT OCCASIONS

By Cora Moore, New York's Fashion Authority

One of the most convenient accessories of any woman's wardrobe is the plain frock. Such a dress may be worn at the morning musicale, the formal luncheon, the afternoon reception, 6 o'clock dinner and the theater. As ideal style that is neither too formal nor informal is worn by Miss Alice King in "Ladies' Night"—one of Broadway's mid-winter successes. The dress Miss King is shown wearing is a soft tulle dress with the skirt all in one piece, the two ends of the material coming together in a jabot at the center back. At the sides the satin is forced to half its length and draped diagonally across the front.

A few velvet bows are attached to the ribbon belt of the plain, kimono-like bodice.

The whole is an simply done that it would easily be copied by any home dressmaker.

Ku Klux Klan Wizard Denies Emphatically Some Printed Reports

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 22.—Col. W. H. Ham J. S. Simmons, imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, in a statement issued today makes spirited and emphatic reply to false statements published in certain sections of the country that the Ku Klux Klan is spreading the doctrine of race prejudice and race hatred.

The imperial wizard severely censured the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, with headquarters in New York, which he charges is largely responsible for the misconceived ideas of the Ku Klux Klan and its purpose.

"This negro association and its friends," says Colonel Simmons "has, falsely held up the Ku Klux Klan as an enemy of the negro race as a breeder of race hatred and has deliberately and maliciously sought to deceive the negro into believing that this organization not only threatens him with bodily injury in the future but already has beaten and even killed negroes, driven them away from the ballot boxes and sought to terrify them into fleeing the country by midnight parades and threats."

"The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is using the Ku Klux Klan as a cudgel to extort money from members of the negro races for the purpose of carrying on its nefarious purposes and is deluding them with the hope of social and political equality and other wild promises which the leaders of this association know never can and never will be fulfilled."

The Night Riders Colonel Simmons declares these assertions that the Ku Klux Klan is spreading the doctrine of race hatred and race prejudice are on a par with and originate from the same sources as those which propagated the slander several weeks ago that this organization was identified with the night riders who were burning cotton gins and threatened their owners unless they ceased operations until the price of cotton rose.

"We are not surprised and we are not seriously perturbed by the fact that from time to time we are called upon to answer the wilful and malicious falsehoods circulated about the Ku Klux Klan," says Colonel Simmons. "It is to be expected that any organization standing for pure Americanism and which has the courage openly to avow its purpose and to proceed fearlessly with its work will be assailed bitterly by the forces which are seeking to bring about un-American America."

For White Supremacy "The Ku Klux Klan stands unswervingly and unashamedly for white supremacy in America. With an unending stream of immigration flowing ceaselessly into the United States from every land and clime with alien forces already at work to undermine our cherished institutions and upset the established order of society, this country today is facing the most serious problem in its history—Shall the Caucasian race of today and tomorrow continue to hold its lofty God ordained and self-achieved pre-eminence or shall it lose its sacred inheritance by permitting the influences of a fanatical, senseless and thoughtless sentimentality to undermine its very foundation? Shall its manifold glory, its exalted ideals and its marvellous mental capacity perish from the earth? Shall the Anglo-Saxon civilization of America lose its luster and leadership by the senseless injection of inferior blood and alien purposes into its body politic? Shall the heritage of our fathers be repudiated and our birthright be frivolously tossed aside for a consideration, for less than a morsel of pottage? Is there a man who would admit to the sacred fellowship of his home anyone who had no conception of and no regard for the sacredness of that fellowship? Is there a real White Man in all America, who will dishonor the fathers, debase his inheritance and destroy himself and his progeny a civilization and a government to guarantee that civilization by assisting of non-sensory by hating the supplanting of the civilization by a mongrel mass of far lower mentalities and of less noble society and government. No mongrel civilization has ever endured no people of mixed race has ever triumphed for themselves a civilization or kept that which they perchance have been admitted to by others. If there be a race or people who would enter into the sacred fellowship of our politics, society and civilization, then let them prove their worthiness, their capacity by first producing something of like nature that will add to and not take away from what we have and under God shall forever hold. No recent imitations, and such

"We are told, forsooth, that the Ku Klux Klan is stirring up race prejudice. Indeed! What then, we ask, is stirred up when the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People feels its power so strongly that, alone and unaided, it openly and brazenly goes before congress with the demand that representation of the South be cut down as punishment because of 'discrimination against the negro at the ballot box?'"

"We presume there was no possibility of stirring up race prejudice when this association, willfully and deliberately uttered the falsehood that members of this organization paraded the night before the recent presidential election for the purpose of terrifying negro voters and that on election day members of this organization beat and killed negroes because they sought to vote, when this organization has paraded in public many times each year and in many states."

"We presume that race prejudice is lulled to rest when every negro newspaper and magazine is filled with insolent slurs and slanders upon the South and its people and that the millennium is being hurried by certain so-called leaders of the negro race who are insidiously instilling into the minds and hearts of their own race the spirit of hatred against the people of the South who have ever been and will ever be their most sympathetic friend and adviser."

"The Ku Klux Klan stands firmly and unalterably for the proper functioning of all the races in their divinely intended relations and strenuously opposes and compromises by mixing of their relationship. The stars will fall from their celestial sockets before the white race will surrender its inalienable rights and achievements to a lower race of whatever color. Is this the white man will die but never surrender. The unscrupulous politician, the dirty enemy of all races and the tactical leader of other races may well lay aside their vile hopes and ungodly ambitions and become reconciled to the God created of right. It is in all things and at all times defense and in no thing at no time offensive. As it has always been, it is today and forever will be, at all times and in all places, the sympathetic friend of right and being this, it stands an active and uncompromising foe of wrong. Without courting popular applause, without apology, its forces were marshalled to answer the behest of solemn duty in all the relationships of life and living without fault, without fail, without fear and without reproach."

REOPENING AUSTRIAN PARLIAMENT PUT OFF; CONDITIONS SERIOUS

(United Press.) VIENNA, Jan. 22.—The reopening of the Austrian parliament has been postponed until Tuesday because of the critical political situation. Everyone is anxiously awaiting news from the Paris conference. The Austrian government is now faced with bankruptcy, leaders declared.

WILLIAM HAS ONE AWFUL DREAM; ALMOST WETS NANNED AFTER SECURING MOST OF THINGS DONATED TO ELKS' FAIR

"This 'ere Elks' Fair is jes' nacker-lyin' the cussedest time with me durned sleepin' hours that ever was," says Mrs. Hecox's son William.

"Last night I was all set for some real rest. Let's go, now Bill," I sez to myself. Let's have good ole fashioned snore. But I didn't. I got to dreamin' about that Elks' Fair again. I could jes' see myself sittin' in the front seat of that Buick car which I thought I'd got, settin' there as big as all out doors. There was a female sittin' in there with me and what I hadn't got at fair, she had. We'd got the luggage carrier, two sets of automobile tires. I had to get out in front of the car to look myself over in front of the $20 spot light, and believe me, I looked swell. I had on a silk shirt, pair of trousers, and some overalls from the country store and a bathrobe. All around my arms and neck were tied bangles of all colors.

"Pretty nifty, eh, wot?" sez I to that time in the front seat. "Splendid," sez she, lappin' me from head to foot. Then I took a skunt at her, doled up from head to foot in stuff she'd got at the fair—a lady's hand bag, an wrist watch, a new hat, diamonds, ring, string of pearls, and about er neck were two angora scarfs to say nothing of the stuff she was carryin' as lik umbrella, automobile robe, a doll and a chest of silver.

"Oh, boy, oh, boy," sez I "where do we go from here."

She never said a word, but pointed to the bunch of stuff in the back seat. It looked higher than South Mountain. What wasn't there wasn't worth stealin'. A refrigerator, a fireless cooker, a set of living room furniture, groceries and drugs, enough to last a life time from Hiram Doolittle's store an ivory toilet set and a rug.

"Willyum, you and I could very well afford to get hitched, and start house-keepin'," sez she to me. Well, we could, too, b'cracky, for upon close investigation we found plenty of canned goods, more groceries, electric sewing machine, and right on top of the whole pile was a hen and a rooster, named Nancy and Bill, valued at $20.00 which Julian Arroyo donated to our collection.

And last, but not least, my lady was fannin' herself with an ostrich feather fan in each hand.

Mebbe that's why I don't sleep better? Who knows? It's all because of the Elks' Fair.

MONTE CARLO LID

PRINCE CONSIDERS CLOSING GAMBLING CASINO.

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.) MONTE CARLO, Jan. 22.—Guests at Monte Carlo hear it will soon pass out as the world's greatest gambling place.

The Prince of Monaco declines to discuss the story that he will convert Monte Carlo into a great pleasure resort with new features to replace gambling.

But intimates of the prince say he is weary of being the ruler of games of chance; weary of being blamed for the suicides that end the careers of unlucky plungers.

Many Fortunes Lost.

Monte Carlo stands on a elevation above a Mediterranean bay nine miles from Nice.

The Casino, the gambling house to which Monte Carlo owes its fame, and the principal revenue, is a splendid building set in beautiful gardens.

Here many fortunes have changed hands on the "chips that pass in the night." Rich men have come and poor men have gone—many to death over "suicide wall" on a cliff above the bay.

In 1861 the Casino was leased for 50 years to Francois Blanc. After his death the control passed to a stock company.

May Break Contract.

In 1898 the company obtained an extension of its concession to 1947 and engaged to pay the prince $1,000,000 or so a year.

To close the Casino the prince will have to break this contract.

But he's supreme in Monaco, and neither France nor other powers could be expected to interfere on behalf of the gamblers' syndicate.

Besides, the prince is 72—and talking much of the time when he must face his Maker.

BLACK FOR LINGERIE

Black chintilly lace is a favorite for lingerie. Some of the newest lingerie is trimmed with brocade ribbons or black velvet ribbon with velvet flowers. Gold and silver ribbons also are used for trimmings. Slips and chemises of black crepe de chine and crepe mouton are designed along simple, severe lines, being trimmed with black satin ribbon or narrow black lace.

The coming of the Atlantic Artists Trio to the Auditorium on Tuesday night, Jan. 25, will mean much to the music lovers of the Triple Cities. The trio consists of Dr. Solon Druken-triller, the famous tenor; Mrs. James H. Whitten, a contralto, of wonderful ability and S. C. McClure, composer and pianist. This trio of musicians have appeared before some of the big summer schools and in the large cities being heard with pleasure in each case. They are all real artists, each one of them competent of giving an entire evening program.

COUSIN OF MARK TWAIN WILL SOON INTRODUCE CHAUTAUQUA OVERSEAS

(International News Service.) LONDON, Jan. 22.—The "Chautauqua movement" has at last spread to England and another link has thus been forged in the bonds uniting the British Isles with her Dominions and America.

Miss Mildred Clemens, cousin of Mark Twain, is the American lecturer who has decided to bring the "Chautauqua" to the attention of the British people. In discussing her venture Miss Clemens said:

"We are anxious to introduce the Chautauqua movement into England and elsewhere, so that all English speaking peoples may be brought into closer relationship."

"My little show is not exactly a Chautauqua, but it is its forerunner. I have toured with it all over America, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, and I hope it will prove the beginning of a great interchange of speakers throughout the United States, the British Isles and the Dominions."

"My miniature chautauqua consists of the presentation of 'Happy Haddi' I have six native assistants who sing and dance in the native fashion and I show a number of moving and still pictures illustrative of life in the islands."

"My cousin, Mark Twain, visited the islands fifty years ago. It was a great pleasure to me to follow where he had been."

"I met the charming Prince of Wales in Honolulu. I never found anyone more truly democratic. He is a great sport."

PARIS POLICE FORM SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

(International News Service.) PARIS, Jan. 22.—Under the patronage of Minister of the Interior Steeg and Prefect of Police Raux, Paris policemen have formed their symphonic orchestra. All participants are on the active list and the conductor himself is just an ordinary policeman. This band intends to give regular concerts, the proceeds of which will go to swell the funds of the recently formed union. On special occasions they will parade the streets of follow official processions. They will also play for charity.

ARMY WILL TAKE ITS OWN MOVING PICTURES

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The United States army is going into the motion picture business and soon will be in a position to furnish everything from cameras man to audience.

Though the Signal Corps of the army maintained a photographic section throughout the war and made thousands of feet of actual battle scenes for the War College records the retail end of the industry, so to speak, has until now been conducted by an outside organization, the Community Motion Picture Bureau.

Under a contract entered into October 21, 1919, this concern agreed to furnish motion picture films to 157 camps, posts and stations. By June of this year, the number had increased to 184 and attendance had risen from 185,000 to more than half a million, and is still on the increase.

The admission fee is ten cents and the profits accruing from the larger camps enable the smaller posts also to have movies once or twice a week. In order to provide operators for this service, motion picture operation has been made one of the features of vocational training.

A plan is now well under way by which the army itself will operate the motion picture service without the aid of the Community Bureau, thus eliminating overhead expense and making the service self-supporting.

FASHION NOTES

French designers are using lightweight upholstery fabrics of intricate striped patterns for use as inset panels, bands for outlining tunics or other colorful touches. The material resembles the hand-loomed fabrics from Czechoslovakia. In many of the costumes the mantle or top coat matches the yokings, sleeve cuffs, or facing of the gown.

Announcing the New Fashions for Springtime

Like a flight of bright plumaged song birds announcing the approach of Spring has come this dainty collection of frocks.

They will brighten the last dull days of Winter and reflect the first splendid days of sunshine. For design, material and color together have fairly captured the spirit of Youth and Spring—the vivacity of one, the warmth of the other.

Modes for the Vernal season, enrapturing in their regal beauty, singularly individualized, bearing that fine touch in line and finish, this new assortment symbolizes the highest attainments of our greatest designers. Nothing lovelier can possibly be conceived than the earlier Spring models, because of wonderful creations.

"Victoria" Upon Which President-Elect Harding Will Visit Daytona Tomorrow

The yacht Victoria, the property of Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, on which President-elect Harding will visit Daytona Monday, is named after the eldest daughter of Senator and Mrs. Frelinghuysen. It is a graceful vessel, 88 feet long, 19 feet in width and 60 tons burden. It is equipped with two 50-horsepower engines and makes excellent time. Captain Thomas Dahlberg commands the Victoria, which is comfortably fitted. It has three double staterooms and a single one. The quarters reserved for the President-elect are luxurious in appointments, with every convenience.

Following the cruise south to Miami, the party will again return, with a possibility that the President-elect will stop off here for a few rounds of golf on one of the local golf courses, if a stop is not made Monday. The cruise will end at St. Augustine, where Mrs. Harding will meet her husband, and party, for a stay at the Ponce de Leon hotel in the Ancient City until just previous to the inaugural of the President-elect.

Chas. A. Comiskey To be Guest Here of Geo. M. Faith

Charles A. Comiskey, the "Old Red" of baseball, president of the Chicago American League club, and manager of the White Sox team is expected in Daytona later in the week. The guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Faith at Villa Monaco, the Faiths are in Dootwick Park.

Mr. Faith was in communication by telephone Saturday evening with his son, Mr. Comiskey, who is this week at St. Augustine, having recently arrived there from his Chicago home, coming south at this time for his Comiskey's health.

Mrs. Comiskey's health continues to improve, the Chicago baseball manager will come down later in the week, for a short rest and fishing excursion.

In October I happened to talk to a Real Estate man from Louisville, Ky., and mentioned to him that Daytona is the most logical and best place for real estate investments, stating to him that Daytona is still "on the ground floor." He replied: "You are wrong, my boy; Daytona has not emerged from the basement as yet, but just as soon as she does come out onto the 'ground floor,' there is nothing to stop the growth of Daytona. Just watch her smoke. I have never seen anything with brighter prospects than Daytona!"

I am sure that gentleman was right. Come in and let me explain it to you. See

Leading Hotels of the East Coast of the Great Winter Playground of the World

Visitors Coming to the East Coast of Florida May Be Assured of Good Service and Reasonable Charges at the Hotels Listed in These Columns

Retired Book and Paper Man is the Guest of Despland

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Duncan and their daughter Miss G. B. Duncan of Hartford, Conn., arrived during the past week at the Despland Hotel, where they will spend the winter season. For a dozen years or more they have been coming every year to the Despland hotel where they always find many friends to welcome them. Mr. Duncan has seen enough of Florida towns and conditions to be in an position to speak knowingly of their relative values as health and winter resorts and he thinks the Triple Cities excel them all.

Mr. Duncan and his family left Hartford on Monday, January 17, when the temperature was 5 degrees below zero. He says that even as far south as Savannah there was no improvement in climatic conditions. As there was still snow and rain and a miserable chill in the air but when he reached Daytona the weather was warm and delightful but to people who had been here during the winter, the weather conditions did not seem the best at that time.

For more than thirty years Mr. Duncan has been engaged in the manufacture of book paper but sixteen years ago, owing to poor health, he retired from active duties and since that time with his family has been enjoying a life of ease. He says time never hangs heavily on his hands when in Daytona; that he always finds many friends about the Despland and the city as well, and that he very much enjoys fishing, bowling and golf and that he expects to have some good sport at the new bowling alleys in Daytona.

Mr. Duncan was asked by a News representative what the industrial conditions were in New England, and said:

"The towns of New England are nearly all noted for their manufacturing industries and it is difficult to predict what the future holds along those lines. Many of the industrial plants are closed down altogether and in nearly all of them the number of employees have been very materially reduced and those who have been retained have been cut in wages from 15 to 22 per cent. This produces a very bad state of affairs, some employees refusing to work at the reduced scale of wages, claiming that the cost of the necessities of life have not been reduced accordingly. However, I am not expecting any great financial panic, but on the contrary am expecting a brightening of conditions all along the lines."

Mr. Duncan spoke enthusiastically of the dignity and importance of the commodity to the manufacture of which he had given his active business life. He said:

"There is no other article so close to the hearts of the people as paper. From the time the expectant mother goes to the store and buys the materials with which to clothe her babe, bringing the material home wrapped in a piece of paper, until the death of the child grows to maturity is recorded on paper, this commodity plays a most important part. All the business of the world is transacted on paper; the education of the world is absorbed from paper made books; papers and magazines, the religion of life is learned from the Bible printed on paper; messages of love, of joy and of sorrow are sent around the world and transcribed on paper and so transmitted to those for whom intended. We who manufacture this commodity send out into the highways and byways and gather up the discarded, the dirty and cast off rags of all conditions of people and put the conglomeration through a process and it comes out white and pure and is made into this most useful and common need of every day life; we send out into the forest to gather up the gnarled and knotted and seemingly worthless tree and brush and they too are cleaned and made white and perfect. Nothing more perfectly and truly symbolizes the endeavors of the churches and Christian people everywhere in their efforts to make pure and perfect the stained human soul of humanity as this making white and beautiful the unclean and imperfect in the manufacture of paper."

Mr. Duncan says he has always been a Republican and that he believed in a tariff for the protection of American labor; that he had every confidence in the incoming administration but he said no president had ever had the strenuous condition with which to struggle as had confronted President Wilson, and while it was easy for the onlooker to criticize, he had no doubt done as well as his critics could have done in the same position.

It was suggested to Mr. Duncan that he was a young looking and appearing man to be retired from active business life to which he replied:

"Young? Why the good wife upstairs and I have been married for 43 years."

Miss Margeret Hoberg, Noted Harpist, Composer of Music, Charming Guest at Clarendon

About a week ago Miss Margeret Hoberg of New York City and her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Turrell of East Orange, N. J., arrived at the Clarendon where they took a suite and began enjoying life of the big hotel and it was not until they had been there for several days, and Miss Hoberg was attracted to the ball room by the piano there, to play for her own pleasure some of her own compositions, that the other guests of the hotel awoke to the fact that they had an artist of much distinction in their midst.

Miss Hoberg is a harpist and a composer of songs and orchestral music. She is one of the most modest and charming young women and very graciously talked with the News representative regarding her work and aspirations. This is her first visit to the southland and she expressed much joy and happiness in being here. She said it seemed to her like a glorious fairy land and from the windows of her room she has a magnificent view of the ocean and from it she is gaining an inspiration for her compositions.

She was asked if she came to Florida for that purpose and said:

"No, I cannot say that I did for had anyone told me only three months ago that I should be in this beautiful land of sunshine and flowers this winter I would not have thought it could be true, so you see it was not planned but here I am and it just seems a part of the plan of thinking."

"I want to get the keynote of the earth's manifestations and surely the surroundings here, the sea, the wonderful ocean breezes, the moonlight and the wonderful southern skies aid me."

Miss Hoberg says that the keynote of the ocean is F, the earth D, the southern moon with its greenish cast she places in the key of B, the northern moon with its golden warmer light, she places a half tone lower; the sunlight, E; while love and fire are placed in the same key, C.

Miss Hoberg says she has found wonderful inspiration from the Chinese book, "Yo-King tao" which means the way of life, and interprets the earth's vibrations in all its manifestations. Miss Hoberg said she had derived wonderful inspirations from watching the movements of serpents and she was asked how it could be possible to get any musical notes from such a source and she explained that it was not the notes of music but the rhythm of their movements that aided her in her work. She says the jungle has a great call for her because it is so filled with mysterious and strange sounds and she says that except for the fact that she is terribly afraid of a snake she would like to see one coil itself and strike. She will later go to Miami where she will be nearer the heart of tropical nature.

At present Miss Hoberg is engaged in an orchestral composition founded on Aztec mythology and it is especially for this composition that she is now making this study of the earth sounds.

Miss Hoberg spent the past summer alone in her camp amid the hills of New England when she was enabled to weave into her wonderful orchestral production the notes of the birds, the dripping waters and all the mysterious notes of the woodland. She has just completed two beautiful groups for the harp which have been published by Oliver Ditson, of Boston, whose name is familiar to all musicians. These two groups are called "Log Cabin sketches, one 'Summer' and one 'Winter'."

Miss Hoberg says the world is passing through a reconstruction period in music as well as in other things. She says that the period leading up to the great World War was one of inharmonious and chaos and had its influence upon events.

She was asked what she thought of the so-called jazz music and said it was merely an infantile effort at music and that the world would outgrow it as it was outgrowing jazz. She said it was quite impossible for her to do any composing in New York City, though that place was home to her and she loved it. She said the noises of the street, of the subways, of the street cars and all other racket of that hurried modern life, was too disorderly and disturbing.

Women composers of orchestral music are very few. There are probably not to exceed three in the country. Miss Hoberg says there is no doubt because few women have the determination or the physical strength to do the work required. She says it means constant labor and concentration; and a thing that is very trying to one with the love of music in the soul is that it means engagement and work with amateur orchestras and that the discords to which one must listen are very trying. She says she really learned by listening to and observing the mistakes during this trying ordeal through which she passed.

Mr. and Mrs. Turrell and Miss Hoberg motored from New York in their Packard car taking seven days for the trip. Mr. Turrell remained for a couple of days when he returned to look after business matters, but will again visit Seabreeze in time to accompany the ladies on their trip to Miami.

EX-GOVERNOR WARNER OF MICHIGAN AT THE BEACH

Ex-Governor Fred M. Warner of Michigan, together with Mrs. Warner and son, Howard Warner, arrived today and will spend a week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Austin N. Kimmie, 336 Atlantic avenue, Daytona Beach.

Governor Warner has long been prominent in Michigan politics, having served as state senator, secretary of state, and was three times elected governor, an honor without precedent in Michigan. He is now serving as the Michigan member of the Republican national committee.

After their visit here, Mr. and Mrs. Warner will go to California where they will spend the balance of winter.

DANCING NIGHTLY AT THE DAYTONA BEACH CASINO

Beginning Monday dances will be held every night during the week in the attractive pavilion of the Daytona Beach Casino. Paul Koester who is employing a six-piece orchestra to make snappy and tuneful music, has made arrangements with a New York firm whereby he will be sent all the latest hits in dance music immediately they are proclaimed successes on Broadway. It is the policy of the management to have the best of everything connected with the hall.

DAYTONA WELCOMES OUR NEXT PRESIDENT

The people of Daytona and Florida take illimitable pride in the fact that the President-elect has chosen this state for his vacation. Mr. Harding will find friendship on every hand, a sincere desire to assist in making his stay a pleasant one, and this is a mere shadow of the spirit Florida will extend to the administration during the next four years. Daytona is particularly pleased to be able to pay respects to the national leader, and dismissing politics as a mere incident in the course of human events, in the most hospitable manner the city knows, every heart and every door to the reception of the next President of the United States. The people of Florida are hero-worshippers, and the outstanding figure in the national drama today is Warren G. Harding, and with a unison of voices Daytona and Florida say—
